

When You Were a Kid These Movies Inspired Irrational Fear ... and They Still Might

Written by Avalon Lustick on July 29, 2018 12:03 am.

f Share

Tweet

G+ Share

0

It's a mystery what we remember as kids.

More specifically, what scares us, and this is proven by movies we were irrationally afraid of.

Below are movies that were scary when we were kids even though they weren't meant to be.

'E.T.'

The opening scene when something is running through the brush or at the end when they come to take E.T. away!

'WIZARD OF OZ'

Feet aren't supposed to curl!

The flying monkeys were the original monsters that taught us fear.

'MATILDA'

Do teachers really put kids in the choaky?!

'GREMLINS'

Gizmo lures you in but then your lack of responsibility traumatizes you for life.

'THE GOONIES'

Before you knew Sloth was a sweetheart, you almost peed your pants when you first saw him.

'CORALINE'

Actually, there is nothing irrational about this movie. It's terrifying.

'THE NEVERENDING STORY'

Probably every creature in "The Neverending Story" scared us.

Even Falkor...

'LABYRINTH'

David Bowies hair was hands down the scariest part.

'THE DARK CRYSTAL'

Whenever puppets are involved, so is fear.

HARRY POTTER AND THE SORCERER'S STONE'

The first appearance of Voldemort was unlike anything anyone had ever seen before.

 Share

Tweet

 Share

 0

Posted in Pop Culture \(/news/pop-culture\)

TRENDING NOW ON NH1.COM